

Beeswax base OregaShield™

OregaShield slow-release formula • Last up to 24 hours

OregaShield is the world's first-ever sustained wild oregano oil formula. It is in a beeswax base, and it also contains wild bay leaf and sage oils. All are potent and from wild, mountain-grown spices. Black seed oil is also an ingredient, which is a rich emollient for optimal skin health.

It is ideal for applying to hands for prolonged benefit. OregaShield lasts for an entire day but it can be applied multiple times daily. It is also the ideal emulsified, prolonged-release essential oil formula for applying to other regions, such as the soles of the feet and shins. It can also be rubbed up and down the spine.

Use OregaShield anywhere it is needed; just dab it on for support on stubborn regions. It can be applied to the face. Temporary heat sensation is normal. Avoid use on sensitive facial skin. Avoid contact with eyes.

Place a small amount of OregaShield just under the nose. It may be placed inside the nostril with a cotton swab. Avoid contact with the sensitive outer nose (the mucus membranes are less sensitive than the outside tissues). Rub a small amount on the forehead or even on the crown of the head. Apply and rub into the temporal area (side of the face). Beeswax is water soluble and won't leave an oily residue.

It is the ideal formula for applying to the nails. With its gradual, slow release technology it holds the emulsified oils against the nail bed. Use OregaShield for nail health support; it is superior to essential oils, which evaporate rapidly. Apply it to the nails as often as possible, and keep covered with a sock. May be applied to fingernails and toenails.

In small amounts it may be rubbed into the hair, where it acts as a natural softener and conditioner.

For any stubborn region apply a small amount and cover with a band-aid. This will hold the natural ingredients even more effectively against the involved area.

Rub over joints; repeat as desired. Shield yourself with OregaShield as the ideal travel companion. It's only 1.65 oz., so it can be easily carried when flying. Use it daily, and shield yourself every day and in all your travels.
